“Business strategies for organisational excellence”

Clare Mann is an organisational psychologist, international consultant and author, skilled in dispelling the myths that inhibit individual and organisational transformation. Through her work consulting, coaching and speaking, she facilitates sustainable engagement models, resulting in performance leadership/cultures.

Background: Clare Mann Associates Australia Pty Ltd was formed after a career in human resources and organisational development, academia and management consulting across a range of industries spanning fourteen different countries.

Education: Clare has a Master of Science in Occupational Psychology from London University, a Master of Arts in Existential Psychotherapy and Counselling validated by Sheffield University (UK) and a Bachelor of Science in Psychology from University of North London. She is a registered psychologist in the UK and Australia and registered psychotherapist in the UK.

Professional Affiliations and Accomplishments:

Clare holds memberships in the British and Australian Psychological Societies and UK Council for Psychotherapists. She is licensed to supervise psychologists for chartering and registration. Clare has held several university lectureships and was Chief External Examiner for the UK Royal College of Nursing Management Degree. Clare was the keynote speaker at the 2005 HR and Capital Management Conference in Cyprus.

Clare is the author of The Myths of Life and The Choices We Have, a guide for managers and coaches to facilitate personal responsibility/choice in conscious leadership and teambuilding. She is a contributing author to Awakening the Workplace, co-author of Strategic Human Resource Development: Strategy and Tactics, co-author of Create A Successful and Sustainable Practice and author of audio CD, 7 Ways To Work Effectively With Your Clients.

Clare's Speaking Topics:

The Business Case for Work-Life Integration: Integrating corporate social responsibility with sustainable work-life integration creates the context for organisational and employee success. This seminar explores the business case for organisational change to create win-win solutions for all organisational stakeholders.

Conscious Leadership: Are you seeking a form of leadership that truly makes a difference? Do you seek to lead with awareness and integrity? Would you like to explore how to achieve this? Workshops focused on integrating individual, team and organisation effectiveness.

Dispelling the Myth of Work-Life Balance and Exploring the Sustainable Alternatives: This interactive session uncovers cultural assumptions underpinning organisational and employee behaviour. Managers trained in dispelling myths that inhibit change influence organisational effectiveness in such areas as teamworking, productivity, retention and employee commitment.
